Handling of personal data

Under the provisions on legal data protection, everyone has the right to the protection of their data against misuse. The Amberg Group complies with this provision.

In cooperation with our web service provider, we try to protect databases as much as possible from access by third parties, loss, misuse or falsification.

When accessing our website, only non-personal user data, such as your IP address, last searched page, browser used, date, time and all information that is transmitted to the operating system are anonymously identified and internally evaluated in order to identify trends and improve online offers. There are no consequences or risks arising from this approach that would concern your person.

Personal data is treated as strictly confidential. It is neither sold nor made available to third parties. An exception is external service providers, who necessarily process the necessary data based on our orders. Specifically, these service providers are: Google Inc. (access statistics).

Reports, data corrections and deletion

In the case of your request for information or data correction or deletion, please contact the person responsible for personal data protection and provide your name, your contact address and telephone number, including a copy of your identity card, at dataprotection@amberg.ch or by postal service at:
